Hetty Green Scorns Count's Engagement To Miss Vanderbilt

Richest Woman Gives Common Sense Views Remarkable Interview on Money.

MEW YORK, Oct. 12.-"I am glad that Gladys Vanderbilt is not my daughter. There are thousands of honest young workingmen in the United States good enough to be any girl's husband. The girls who go to Europe to get their husbands deserve what they get-and more. If my son married a foreign woman because the union would bring him a title, I would disown him."

This statement was made to a reporter in a remarkable interview by world, en route by train from New York to Newport.

What do you think about the marriage of American girls to counts, princes, dukes, and lords of the old world, Mrs. Green?" she was asked. "Well," she replied, with a twinkle in her eye, "really I know more about discounts than I do about counts.' Mrs. Green then made the remarks quoted above. Continuing, she said: How Truly American She Is.

"I recently gave my son $5,000 with which to buy a new automobile as a birthday gift, but I stipulated that it should be of American make. That's how truly American 1 am, and 1 say this without egotism. "The mother who will pay $5,000,000 for a title for her daughter should not expect to get a son-in-law of any se count for the same sum. Further than this, the woman who will pay $5,000,000 for the son-in-law should have a guar-for the son-in-law should have a guardian appointed to care for her."

Mrs. Green was asked: "Have you not made all the money that you need, so that you may spend the remainder of your life in quietude and ease?"

"It isn't the money I'm so greedy for," she responded. "It is happiness. We have to have money to be aappy. When I found it necessary to go into business to save what my father left me, I gave up all idea of ever obtaining a social position. Yer know, I am a Quaker, and the Quakers have a saying that if you burn the candle both night and day it won't last. From that you can see why I have not gone in for society and business together.

Fun Whipping Magnates.

I had not remained in business, said Mrs. Green, with a smile, yet a proud mien, "I would not have had the fun of whipping Collis P. Huntington, J. H. Choate, and others of their clique. "I have had fights with some of the greatest financial men in the country. Did you ever hear of any of them get-

ARMY OFFICER IS CAUGHT BY COL. HATFIELD

Alleged Attempt to Raise $1,000 on Bogus Voucher Frustrated.

Lefort in Jail in New York Through Efforts of Fort Myer Officer,

To Col. Charles A. P. Hatfield, com-mandant of Fort Mver, credit is given for the discovery of the alleged forging of pay accounts by Lieut, Allan Lefort, yesterday in New York. It was the combined efforts of Colonel Hatfield and Major Sylvester that resulted in the arrest.

On last Monday Colonel Hatfield turned over to Major Sylvester a special delivery letter which had been addressed by L. Sflverman, a New York broker, to a "Col. C. A. P. Hatfield, care Hotel St. James, Washington." This letter was finally turned over by the War Department to Colonel Hatfield, at Fort Myer. It contained a check for more than $1,000. Superintendent Sylvester sent Detective Evans to New York and he found that some unknown individual had used Hatfield's name, although he did not sign it as the colonel usually Frightened Away.

This unknown person had asked that he advance on pay vouchers be sent to him at the St. James. These pay vouchers were forgel. Mr. Silverman sent word that he would be here, and bring the check. This evidently caused the solicitor of the favor to leave the city, and when Silverman mailed the check instead it fell into the hands of the real Colonel Hatfield. To what ex-tent the unknown man carried on this scheme by using the names of army of-ficers is not known, but this morning fleers is not known, but this moining Major Sylvester called in Paymaster General Sniffen, of the United States Army, and a long conference was held. No Individual's pay could be affected by the forgeries, but the banks who would cash any such checks would be the lowers.

This, according to Auditor Tweedale, is on account of certain irregularities in the rolls, which have already been see-sawed several times between the rolls account of the matter by the paymaster several times between the rolls account of the matter by the paymaster several times between the rolls account of the matter by the paymaster several times between the rolls account of the ro and firther investigation of the matter by the paymaster general is expected to bring even more interesting

Mr. Dietz, Hau's attorney, has filed lengthy pleadings to set aside the trial court's verdict, and having of them will necessitate fighting over the entire case again.

Most important in the rehearing will be the new testimony to be offered by a young woman of Baden-Baden-the place where the murder was committedtending to clear Hau. Her story, however, only throws greater mystery over the astounding case.

Girl Has New Evidence.

This new witness, who has known Hau or a long time, says she saw him enter a cab and drive toward the railroad early on the evening of November 6, the day of the murder. Just as he Rear Admiral U. Sebree sailed was driving away she heard the shots which his special service sailed which killed Frau Molitor, fired from a different direction. It would have ron from Hampton Roads at 11 been impossible, she says, for Hau to o'clock this morning, on schedule have fired the shots.
